Signatory update
January-March 2024
Dear signatories,

The first quarter of the calendar year provided an opportunity to review our plans for the next phase of the PRI’s development.

We welcomed Conor Kehoe, who chaired his first PRI Board meeting in January, following the end of Martin Skancke’s nine-year tenure.

We launched our plans for a new PRI strategy, aiming to respond to the changing world around us and better equip the PRI to deliver on our shared mission. I would like to thank all signatories who participated in our formal consultation on the strategy, and I look forward to updating you further in due course.

And with a view to deepening our understanding of the path towards a sustainable and equitable global financial system, we launched the Reynolds & Gifford PRI Grant.

The Grant celebrates the contributions of my two predecessors as PRI CEO and will provide funding to selected research activities over a five-year period.

Looking to the year ahead, we also released our 2024 Reporting Framework in February – well in advance of the reporting window – and shared our plans for this year’s PRI in Person conference, being held in Toronto from 8-10 October.

I look forward to continuing to work with you throughout the year.

Best,

David Atkin
CEO

Quarterly Board report: priorities

The Board met twice during this quarter, once online and once in-person. Conor Kehoe was delighted to join the Board from 1 January 2024 and chair his first Board meeting in January.

In March, the Board agreed the Board priorities for 2024/25:

- New strategy, with a focus on progression and accountability
- Signatory and stakeholder engagement
- Succession planning and Board composition
Over the past year, the Board’s focus was on the development of the new strategy. An important element of any strategy process is the formal signatory consultation on the strategy. The Board encourages all signatories to participate in the consultation as your feedback is critical to inform our future strategic direction.

The Board believes that the new strategy responds to the changing world around us and will better equip the PRI to deliver the mission. The proposed strategy is designed to maximise the value we deliver to signatories, to accelerate progress towards a sustainable global financial system and ultimately to contribute to a more sustainable world.

The strategy proposes that we shift our programme priorities to centre on four focus areas: driving signatory progression and accountability, strengthening responsible investment ecosystems, supporting collaborative investor initiatives and strengthening responsible investment policy and regulatory environments.

The Board considers Progression Pathways as the strategy to achieve a tailored approach needed for our diverse signatory base. The PRI's reporting and assessment will evolve to reduce the duplication and burden of reporting. A strategic focus will be on both progression and accountability, as the Board believes that getting these two pieces right is fundamental to deliver value to signatories. We will also expand our global footprint in the developing world as it houses a large amount of the world's natural capital.

Quarterly Board report: operations

Finance

The Board received a report on key financial and operational information. The Board was kept updated on signatory fees and looks forward to receiving signatory feedback as part of the strategy consultation from signatories impacted by the proposed new upper fee bands.

In March 2024, the Board approved the 2024/25 budget and started discussing the PRI's long-term funding with a more detailed discussion planned for later in the year. Details on the 2023/24 statutory accounts and future budget will be provided in the annual report and accounts, which will be published in August 2024.

People and culture

The Board assessed the annual people and culture review. Positive progress has been made on the employee engagement score since the last survey in 2022. Employees are highly committed to the work of the PRI. More needs to be done to elevate the organisational leadership levels.

Teams need to be empowered to embed new ways of working that they design.

Risk and internal controls frameworks

The board was updated on the risk and internal controls frameworks and looks forward to a more detailed discussion in June on the development of a new risk vision and principal risks.
Quarterly Board report: programmes

Initiatives

The Board was updated on PRI-led collaborative initiatives. Whilst recognising the challenges investors are facing in some markets, the Board agreed on the important role of the initiatives in providing opportunities for investors to collaborate for change.

PRI Academy

The Board discussed the strategy for the PRI Academy and agreed that it should become more integrated into the organisation and a core part of the PRI’s strategy. The Academy’s primary aim is to advance the PRI mission by disseminating knowledge to affect change.

PRI in Person

The Board is looking forward to PRI in Person 2024 in Toronto and hopes to see many of you there.
Quarterly Board report: governance

Elections
The 2024 PRI Board annual election is for three asset owner representative positions and one investment manager representative position. The elections guidance will be published on 3 June 2024.

Board and Chair evaluation
The Board discussed the results of the 2023 Chair and Board self-evaluations. Overall, the results of the Board self-assessment were positive – the Board and committees are functioning effectively. The review highlighted Board dynamics as a key strength. This includes Board relationships, the Board working effectively together, being collegial, engaged, committed and bringing good skills and experience to the discussions.

An area for improvement is signatory and stakeholder engagement, which has been consistently raised in previous reviews. A more structured approach to Board and signatory engagement has been developed to address this.

Committees
The Board approved the reform of the Reporting and Assessment Committee to the Progression and Accountability Oversight Committee. Find out more about the Board committees.

Policies
The Board approved the updated directors’ terms of reference, permanent UN advisors’ terms of reference, election rules, employee Pay Policy and relisting and delisting process.

We delivered our Moving from Principles to Practice Digital Forum in March - a series of five webinars each focussing on a different issue facing responsible investors, including writing a responsible investment policy, building multi-asset portfolios, screening as a tool, an overview of PRI Reporting data and asset owner relationships.

The series provided a platform for in-depth conversation and offered practical content aimed at putting responsible investment principles into practice.

The five webinars attracted over 1,198 attendees from 76 countries and were the first time our digital forums have been sponsored, with generous support from BB Asset Management in Brazil.

2023 analysis

Global responsible investment trends: inside PRI reporting data
This report reviews key themes and trends in signatory practice, drawn from 2023 PRI Reporting. The data provides signatories and the market a clear indication of trends across markets and between different types of signatories. It also presents an overview of how those signatories are responding to issues such as climate change, biodiversity and human rights. Also see a set of slides including supporting data.

Stewardship in private equity

Stewardship in private equity: a guide for general partners
This guide aims to help private equity general partners execute stewardship of their portfolio companies, partly by highlighting best stewardship practices for beginners and leadership. It outlines who, when and what to engage with, and offers a practical toolkit to address the methods of engagement.

Advisory committees
To provide invaluable support and guidance to signatories, we have aligned the governance of our advisory committees and broadened membership to additional asset owners, service providers and signatories in emerging markets. As a result, we recently welcomed 46 new members – 20% from emerging markets and 40% from asset owners, strengthening representation from these groups.
Asset owner guidance

Asset owners have significant influence over markets, as they occupy the top of the investment chain. Our asset owner programme offers a diverse range of tailored resources to further their adoption of ESG considerations.

Introductory guides – corporate governance, human rights and infrastructure
We continued to roll out our range of introductory guides with new topics covering human rights, corporate governance, infrastructure and biodiversity. The introductory guides explore how asset owners can incorporate these issues into building portfolios, stewardship practices and reporting.

- An introduction to responsible investment: corporate governance for asset owners
- An introduction to responsible investment: human rights
- An introduction to responsible investment: infrastructure

Biodiversity guidance

Incorporating nature-related risks has become key for signatories over the last year. In response, we have developed a series of guides and tools to help investment managers and asset owners to understand this area and develop responses. These include:

- Developing a biodiversity policy: a technical guide for asset owners and investment managers – focuses on approaches to incorporate biodiversity into policies, complementing existing guidance on developing or redeveloping a responsible investment policy.

- An introduction to responsible investment: biodiversity for asset owners – helps investors understand the fundamentals of biodiversity, its relevance and how it can be incorporated into existing practices.
Now open to entries – closing 14 June 2024

The five proposed categories are:

- Innovation in responsible investment strategy
- System stewardship
- Recognition for action – climate
- Recognition for action – human rights
- Recognition for action – nature

There will be two special awards focusing on:

- Emerging markets – open to signatories that are either based in, or have developed innovative ways to allocate capital to, emerging markets
- Private markets – submissions focused on private markets

Taking action through climate initiatives
Moving towards net zero through investor action, corporate engagement and policy reforms

In February, Climate Action 100+ released a public response to the departure of a small number of investors, outlining the progress made to date and clarifying that it continues to be consistent in its purpose and approach. The initiative also published answers to frequently asked questions to support signatories.

In March, Climate Action 100+ published the results of pilot assessments of select oil and gas companies against the Net Zero Standard for Oil and Gas. Results highlighted that current transition plans of companies assessed are insufficient for investors to accurately gauge transition risk, a material financial concern for high-emitting companies on the Climate Action 100+ focus list.

Following the expansion of the Climate Action 100+ global steering committee late last year, CalPERS's Michael Cohen was nominated as its next Chair, starting in May.
Nature

Spring: initiative in final preparatory stage

Spring is a PRI stewardship initiative for nature, convening institutional investors to use their influence to halt and reverse biodiversity loss across the globe by 2030.

Spring is endorsed by 198 investors with US$15trn in assets under management. The full list of endorsers is available on the PRI website.

The PRI is currently forming company engagement groups. Participant applications remain open for a select number of companies where there is still capacity.

In the coming months, the PRI will release a second batch of focus companies and invite signatories to participate in these engagement groups.

For more information, or to get involved, please visit our website or email spring@unpri.org.
Investing for nature: resource hub

The PRI has compiled a resource hub with its own and external resources to help investors understand the importance of nature, develop nature-related strategies and integrate nature into their investment practices. Resources include guidance, standards, tools, webinars and a list of relevant initiatives.

Finance and the global biodiversity framework: navigating the road to COP16

The PRI co-hosted a webinar in the joint We need to talk about biodiversity series, with UNEP FI and the Finance for Biodiversity Foundation, on the upcoming UN Biodiversity Conference COP16, scheduled for October 2024 in Cali, Colombia.
Adopting a strategic approach to human rights

In March, the PRI published a blog post, Delivery of the SDGs is off track. Investors are crucial in promoting human rights. It explores the critical role of investors in promoting human rights amidst the current global context, where the delivery of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) is falling short. It delves into the significance of investor action in advancing human rights and underscores the urgent need for collaborative efforts to drive meaningful progress towards a more equitable and sustainable future.

The PRI is allocating £300,000 over five years, starting in 2024, for this research initiative. Interested parties are invited to submit an expression of interest by 28 June 2024. Selected candidates will proceed to an interview stage to discuss their expression of interest with the jury, after which the successful candidate will submit a full proposal addressing feedback from the jury. The research is expected to produce deliverables from 2024 to 2029.

Call for papers at the Academic Network Conference

The PRI is calling for research proposals on the ways in which responsible investment does or does not currently contribute to a sustainable and equitable global financial system, and potential paths forward to improve its contributions.

Aligning with the key themes at PRI in Person, we invite submissions of papers that focus on responsible investment, especially inviting submissions on the following topics:

1. Exploring the relationship between environmental, social and governance (ESG) opportunities, financial risks, returns and the actual impacts/sustainability outcomes
2. Integrating approaches to ESG issues
3. Focus on progressions of ESG integration
4. Human rights, indigenous rights and system stewardship

Policy and regulatory developments

Global

- Ahead of this year’s G7 summit, the PRI published a policy report on the role of the G7 in driving the economic transition, calling for increased policy action to drive a just, sustainable economic transition to net zero. At talks in Turin, G7 climate and energy ministers committed to phase out coal power in the first half of the 2030s, a significant step forward in particular for Japan, which did not have such a commitment, and an important signal of intent from advanced economies.

- The PRI, together with other organisations, drafted and helped coordinate the signing of a statement to demonstrate support from the financial sector for an ambitious international legally binding instrument (ILBI) to end plastic pollution. It was endorsed by 160 financial institutions representing over US$15.5 trillion combined assets.

- On its ESG draft implementation note, the PRI engaged with the International Organisation of Pension Supervisors (IOPS).

- The PRI responded to the International Association of Insurance Supervisors (IAIS) public consultation on climate risk supervisory guidance on market conduct and scenario analysis.

Contact policy@unpri.org for more information.
Policy and regulatory developments

Australia

- The PRI responded to the Treasury’s consultation on the implementation of climate-related financial disclosure requirements.
- The PRI responded to the AASB’s consultation on the draft Australian sustainability reporting standards (ASRS).
- The PRI responded to the Treasury’s consultation on public country-by-country tax reporting.

China

- The PRI responded to the three Stock Exchanges’ consultation on guidelines on corporate sustainability-related disclosure.
- The PRI published a blog post on unlocking the potential of shareholder voting in China.

Japan

- The PRI responded to the FSA’s consultation on the basic guidelines on impact investment. The final version was published in March 2024.
- The Sustainability Standards Board of Japan (SSBJ) opens a public consultation on the draft Japan-specific ISSB standards. The FSA is concurrently convening a working group on sustainability disclosure and assurance, where it is deliberating on the implementation of the SSBJ standards.

Malaysia

- The PRI responded to the Malaysia ACSR consultation on adopting the ISSB standards.

Policy and regulatory developments

European Union

- Ahead of the European elections, the PRI published its 2030 EU policy roadmap outlining a series of policy recommendations for how the EU can accelerate private investment for the economic transition. Across six chapters, we set out how sustainable finance and real economy policy in the EU can reward responsible investment, operate within planetary boundaries and achieve equitable societies.

- The PRI published a policy briefing that summarises its recommendations for an EU 2040 climate target. A strong policy framework is needed to implement a competitive net zero economy, accelerate finance for the transition and create a prosperous and fair European Green Deal for all.

- On 24 April, MEPs voted in favour of the compromise agreement on the Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive, agreed by the Council of the EU last month. The PRI has published an investor briefing and participated in a webinar on 2 May to explain the implications for the financial sector.

UK

- The FCA launched the sustainability disclosure requirements (SDR) and investment labels regime, setting out clear timelines for implementation, along with a consultation on their anti-greenwashing guidance to accompany the anti-greenwashing rule.

- The financial markets law committee (FMLC) published a paper on pension fund trustees and fiduciary duties examining the legal uncertainties surrounding the inclusion of sustainability and climate change when taking decisions as pension fund trustees with fiduciary duties.

- The PRI published a briefing on the development of UK pensions policy, analysing some of the key advancements since 2019. It highlights areas that require further work and our recommendations to help address ongoing issues.
Policy and regulatory developments

Canada

- Canada’s modern slavery legislation came into force on 1 January 2024. Under the Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act, reporting is mandatory for entities that meet prescribed size-thresholds and either produce goods in Canada or elsewhere, import goods produced outside Canada or control other entities engaged in these activities. Reporting begins on 31 May 2024.

- In March 2024, the Canadian Sustainability Standards Board (CSSB) released the proposed CSDS 1, general requirements for disclosure of sustainability-related financial information (developed using IFRS S1 as a baseline). It also proposed CSDS 2, Climate-related disclosures (developed using IFRS S2 as a baseline) and its proposed Criteria for Modification Framework – a document that discusses how the CSSB proposes to introduce changes to the ISSB’s standards for use in Canada. The deadline to submit a response is 10 June 2024.

US

- In January 2024, ExxonMobil filed a lawsuit in the Texas Federal District Court to prevent a shareholder resolution that called on them to set more aggressive emissions-cutting targets. This is the first time Exxon attempted to exclude a shareholder proposal through legal action.

- In March 2024, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted its final Climate Disclosure Rules mandating registrants to disclose climate change-related information in their filings. The following month, the SEC voluntarily stayed implementation of the rules, pending completion of judicial review of consolidated legal challenges to the rules.

Driving meaningful data

Sign-on statement calling for adoption of ISSB standards

On 22 May, we published our sign-on statement asking jurisdictions to adopt the ISSB standards. The statement was co-developed with the London Stock Exchange Group and UN SSE and has collected signatures from investors, stock exchanges and other organisations. Thank you to those who were able to support this initiative.

Capacity building on ISSB standards

As a partner to the ISSB’s partnership framework for capacity building, the PRI is committed to helping signatories understand the content and implications of the ISSB standards. We recently organised capacity-building sessions connecting signatories in Latin America and Asia with ISSB staff, to educate signatories on these developments and better understand how we can support their related capacity-building needs. Please contact benjamin.taylor@unpri.org with any input on how PRI can support signatories in this area.

Update on the PRI's investor data needs framework

The PRI consulted on its investor data needs (IDN) framework from June 2023 to March 2024, to test the framework and its application with different stakeholders and to inform next steps for the research. A detailed summary of the engagement, particularly with PRI signatories, can be found in our engagement note. Based on feedback received, planned actions include refining the framework and applying it to develop issue-specific data needs positions.
The PRI advanced its co-design work with signatories on Progression Pathways – a framework to help signatories advance their responsible investment practices in ways that are more relevant to them.

We encourage all signatories to participate in the co-design to ensure your voices are heard and to benefit from an investor-developed framework.

- Analysis and integration of design feedback from last quarter's 24 regional and global signatory workshops was completed.
- PRI strategy consultation 2024: Responding to a changing world included several key pathway design and use case questions.
- Preparations for signatory testing of the pathways moved forward with outreach conducted in May 2024.

The Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI)

The PRI works with its international network of signatories to put the six Principles for Responsible Investment into practice. Its goals are to understand the investment implications of environmental, social and governance (ESG) issues and to support signatories in integrating these issues into investment and ownership decisions. The PRI acts in the long-term interests of its signatories, of the financial markets and economies in which they operate and ultimately of the environment and society as a whole.

The six Principles for Responsible Investment are a voluntary and aspirational set of investment principles that offer a menu of possible actions for incorporating ESG issues into investment practice. The Principles were developed by investors, for investors. In implementing them, signatories contribute to developing a more sustainable global financial system.
