

OBJECTIVES

The lead up to UNFCCC COP30 (to be hosted in Brazil, November 2025) is a critical window of opportunity for both state and non-state actors to raise their ambition to achieve a global transition to net zero.

The PRI has three key objectives in the lead-up to COP30:

- Support an enabling policy environment for responsible investment.
- Demonstrate investor ambition on net zero, nature and climate adaptation, including capital mobilisation to EMDEs.
- Catalyse responsible investment in Brazil and Latin America.

As a major milestone on the road to COP3O, London Climate Action Week is an opportunity to engage with our signatories and external stakeholders, exchange ideas and showcase investor action.

On 4-6 November 2025, we will be hosting PRI in Person in São Paulo just days before COP30 in Belém (November 10-21). In the run-up, PRI will continue to deepen its policy engagement on climate and will use this unique platform to ensure the voices of responsible investors are heard by global policy makers.

POLICY PRIORITIES

Building on the PRI's Climate Policy Roadmap, key climate policy engagement priorities ahead of and beyond COP30 include:

A whole-of-government approach to the transition

Science-aligned nationally determined contributions (NDCs)

Strengthening synergies and managing trade-offs between climate and nature

Clear economic transition policy: Implementing Global Stocktake outcomes

Investable NDCs: national transition plans and investment plans

Accelerating capital mobilisation to EMDEs

Increasing finance for adaptation

Operationalising carbon markets

Advancing a just transition

PRI is actively engaging to advance these priorities across major events throughout the year in the lead up to COP3O.
