RI TRANSPARENCY REPORT

2014/15

Investec Asset Management

About this report

The PRI Reporting Framework is a key step in the journey towards building a common language and industry standard for reporting responsible investment (RI) activities. This RI Transparency Report is one of the key outputs of this Framework. Its primary objective is to enable signatory transparency on RI activities and facilitate dialogue between investors and their clients, beneficiaries and other stakeholders. A copy of this report will be publicly disclosed for all reporting signatories on the PRI website, ensuring accountability of the PRI Initiative and its signatories.

This report is an export of the individual Signatory organisation's response to the PRI during the 2014-15 reporting cycle. It includes their responses to mandatory indicators, as well as responses to voluntary indicators the signatory has agreed to make public. The information is presented exactly as it was reported. Where an indicator offers a response option that is multiple-choice, all options that were available to the signatory to select are presented in this report. Presenting the information exactly as reported is a result of signatory feedback which suggested the PRI not summarise the information. As a result, the reports can be extensive. However, to help easily locate information, there is a Principles index which highlights where the information can be found and summarises the indicators that signatories complete and disclose.

Understanding the Principles Index

The Principles Index summarises the response status for the individual indicators and modules and shows how these relate to the six Principles for Responsible Investment. It can be used by stakeholders as an 'at-a-glance' summary of reported information and to identify particular themes or areas of interest.

Indicators can refer to one or more Principles. Some indicators are not specific to any Principle. These are highlighted in the 'General' column. When multiple Principles are covered across numerous indicators, in order to avoid repetition, only the main Principle covered is highlighted.

All indicators within a module are presented below. The status of indicators is shown with the following symbols:

| Symbol | Status |
|--------|---|
| ✓ | The signatory has completed all mandatory parts of this indicator |
| ☑ | The signatory has completed some parts of this indicator |
| 🔒 | This indicator was not relevant for this signatory |
| - | The signatory did not complete any part of this indicator |
| Ⓜ | The signatory has flagged this indicator for internal review |

Within the table, indicators marked in blue are mandatory to complete. Indicators marked in grey are voluntary to complete.

OA 01.3 Provide a brief description of the key elements of your responsible investment policy or, if you do not have a policy, of your overall approach to responsible investment. [Optional]

Investec Asset Management (IAM) exists for one single purpose: to manage "other people's money" (third-party assets) in such a way that we deliver on their mandate. Although these mandates are often quite specialised, the essential purpose of our work is to preserve and grow the real purchasing power of the assets entrusted to us by our clients over the long term. In fulfilling this purpose we will assume a stewardship role over the assets of our clients, including the effective exercising of their ownership rights. We will monitor, evaluate, and, if necessary, actively engage or withdraw capital to preserve or add value to our clients' portfolios.

As a firm we will seek to play a meaningful role in helping to develop the framework for investment and ownership within the various jurisdictions in which we invest. Where appropriate, we will seek to influence the development of policy, regulation and laws, aiming to facilitate the deployment of efficient capital markets and the development of favourable environments for shareholder rights and interests. As such we endorse the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) principles on corporate governance, which represent a broad set of standards that are appropriate for most markets. We will communicate and engage with our clients on how we are fulfilling these responsibilities. After all, we are stewards of their money.

In representing our clients' interests in relation to the investments made on their behalf, we recognise the responsibilities that go with ownership and the related rights within an approach that is cognisant of the broad environmental, social and systemic context in which we function. By virtue of the fact that the majority of our investment activity takes place in the public markets, we will publicly disclose our stewardship policy and our voting record.

The philosophy and practice of stewardship is embedded into the governance structure of IAM. To this effect the Investment Governance Committee (IGC) sits quarterly and is constituted by our Chief Executive Officer, the Co-Chief Investment Officers, senior members of the investment teams and key members of the ESG team.

Investec Asset Management's responsible investment policy covers the full spectrum of investments. However, different asset classes and different investment capabilities adapt the responsible investment policy to complement and fit with their investment process.

IAM believes that social and environmental issues are extremely nuanced, and analysis and action in this regard need to be carefully considered within a particular context. As such, we do not have specific directives on environmental and social issues; our policy offers guidelines and ESG factors to take into account when making investment decisions.

We fundamentally believe that social and environmental issues can have a significant impact on investment analysis and as such develop all investment frameworks, management systems and tools to include environmental, social and corporate governance issues.

We are aware that conflicts of interest can present themselves in many areas of the investment process. We use both the IAM conflicts of interest policy and the proxy voting conflicts of interest guide to appropriately identify and navigate any issues which may arise in our approach to responsible investment.

The IAM policy sets out to describe how and when IAM would identify a potential conflict of interest. The policy also explains how potential conflicts of interest would be managed and indicates that IAM has senior members of staff who are responsible for overseeing specific elements of the policy and potential conflicts of interest. Our conflicts of interest policy also outlines a number of examples of potential conflicts of interest and cites examples of how IAM would manage these.

Since IAM adopted an active approach to proxy voting, further examples of potential conflicts of interest have been identified that are not explicitly addressed in the existing policies as they relate uniquely to proxy voting. Our COI proxy voting guide identifies a number of areas for potential conflicts of interest in proxy voting and outlines a framework for navigating and managing them. Some of these examples relate to voting at our own meetings in the form of IAM funds or Investec Group meetings, cases where IAM/Investec senior employees or clients' senior employees sit on particular boards, and some corporates action and board appointments.

LEI 03.2 Describe your primary reasons for choosing a particular ESG incorporation strategy.

Selecting ESG integration as our dominant form of incorporation is a strategic decision. We believe that it adds more value to our clients to treat material ESG issues as an integral part of the investment analysis process rather than a separate procedure. Other incorporation strategies have come to the fore, often as a result of client requests. In addition, one of IAM's values is 'the freedom to create' and weaving in particular investment themes is a natural consequence of that culture.

Screens are often constructed using client requests as a framework or as determined by the specific portfolio manager. Generally, the criteria are reviewed on an annual basis and on some occasions more frequently. Most often any changes are client driven and if not, clients would be informed via the fund fact sheets or regular investment report backs.

FI 04.2

Describe your primary reasons for choosing a particular incorporation strategy.

We consider ESG to be a vital component of our corporate fixed income analysis. Our ESG analysis is a two stage process: first, focusing on the macro and regulatory backdrop where we assess government focus on socio and environmental factors; and second focusing on company specific corporate governance analysis.

FI 04.4

Additional information. [Optional]

Our typical ESG analysis considers the following:

Stage 1. Government and Regulation

When investing in emerging market corporates it is equally important to understand the macro and regulatory backdrop these companies are operating in, as well as to assess their corporate governance. Depending on the stage of development of the country in question, the government's focus on sector and company regulation may vary. Government policies vary from socio to environmental issues and their focus to a large extent depends on: the political beliefs of the government, the base level of country wealth and the economic climate the country faces. In order to assess the outlook of a company we strive to understand the government's stance on a sector, the socio and economic role that sector/company plays and the degree to which regulation may change. Hence, it is important to understand and pre-empt shifts in regulation and focus by governments in order to understand how a sector's outlook may evolve. To do this we draw on the expertise of our EM regional macro specialists who enhance our understanding.

Stage 2. Corporate Governance

Corporate governance plays a key role in the analysis of every company we invest in as we consider socio and environmental impacts as part of our analysis. For some sectors these issues are of greater importance such as oil and gas and metals and mining. In addition, we follow the MSCI reports where available and perform systematic checks as part of our periodic earnings reviews, monitoring increases in socio and environmental issues and assess the likelihood of impact on future earnings. Finally, not only we perform extensive analysis on every company we invest in, but we have a proprietary corporate governance checklist to ensure red flags are identified.

Given that our corporate fixed income activity stretches across capabilities and lies within many strategies, there are a range of different approaches to coverage or review of environmental and social considerations. Governance considerations tend to be more standardised.

South Africa and Africa Credit as well as Emerging Market Corporate Fixed Income have established or are at the initial stages of implementing systematic reviews of environmental and social considerations as opposed to occasional reviews.

In our scorecard socio-political risk plays an important role and portfolio managers have to score each of our countries every week. We look to invest in countries with improving fundamentals and strongly believe that positive reforms are a key part of the development of emerging markets. These include a better social network, governments looking for sustainable growth, stronger institutions, fair and transparent rule of law and a move towards a stable democracy. Governments that score poorly on these measures are unlikely to do well in the long run and will fail to attract capital.

Our ESG framework is implemented through the investment process in three distinct phases, the pre-Transaction, Transaction and post-Transaction stage. The Transaction stage refers to the period of the investment process which is characterised by the Fund - to - counterparty negotiation, due diligence, legal drafting of agreements and technical implementation of an investment. This stage also identifies and scopes potential ESG action areas and ESG action plans. Finally, the post-Transaction stage focuses on monitoring and reporting to the Investec Asset Management investment committee as well as the client.
