RI TRANSPARENCY REPORT

2013/14

Allianz Global Investors

About this report

The PRI Reporting Framework is a key step in the journey towards building a common language and industry standard for reporting responsible investment (RI) activities. This RI Transparency Report is one of the key outputs of this Framework. Its primary objective is to enable signatory transparency on RI activities and facilitate dialogue between investors and their clients, beneficiaries and other stakeholders. A copy of this report will be publicly disclosed for all reporting signatories on the PRI website, ensuring accountability of the PRI Initiative and its signatories.

This report is an export of the individual Signatory organisation's response to the PRI during the 2013-14 reporting cycle. It includes their responses to mandatory indicators, as well as responses to voluntary indicators the signatory has agreed to make public. The information is presented exactly as it was reported. Where an indicator offers a response option that is multiple-choice, all options that were available to the signatory to select are presented in this report. Presenting the information exactly as reported is a result of signatory feedback which suggested the PRI not summarise the information. As a result, the reports can be extensive. However, to help easily locate information, there is a Principles index which highlights where the information can be found and summarises the indicators that signatories complete and disclose.

Understanding the Principles Index

The Principles Index summarises the response status for the individual indicators and modules and shows how these relate to the six Principles for Responsible Investment. It can be used by stakeholders as an 'at-a-glance' summary of reported information and to identify particular themes or areas of interest.

Indicators can refer to one or more Principles. Some indicators are not specific to any Principle. These are highlighted in the 'General' column. When multiple Principles are covered across numerous indicators, in order to avoid repetition, only the main Principle covered is highlighted. This results in some Principles not being explicitly highlighted. For instance, Principle 1 and 2 cannot be implemented without implementing Principle 3, but there are cases when Principle 3 is not explicitly highlighted.

All indicators within a module are presented below. The status of indicators is shown with the following symbols:

Symbol	Status
✓	The signatory has completed all mandatory parts of this indicator
☑	The signatory has completed some parts of this indicator
🔒	This indicator was not relevant for this signatory
-	The signatory did not complete any part of this indicator
Ⓜ	The signatory has flagged this indicator for internal review

Within the table, indicators marked in blue are mandatory to complete. Indicators marked in grey are voluntary to complete.

PRI disclaimer

This document is based on information reported by signatories and responses have not been independently audited by the PRI Secretariat, PRI working groups, or any other third party. While this information is believed to be reliable, no representations or warranties are made as to its accuracy and no responsibility or liability can be accepted for any error or omission.

At Allianz Global Investors, we follow a two-word philosophy: Understand. Act. It describes how we look at the world and how we behave. We aim to stand out as the investment partner our clients trust by listening closely to understand their challenges, then acting decisively to provide them with solutions that meet their needs.

Diversified active investment manager with a strong parent

Strength and stability are vital in uncertain times. We are an active investment manager with EUR 345 billion in assets under management (AuM) for institutional and retail clients around the world, and EUR 37.3 bn in assets under advisement (AuA). Our business is diversified across equity, fixed-income and multi-asset strategies and diversified by region. This solid foundation, together with the support of the world's largest insurer, helps us toward our goal of developing and maintaining long-term relationships with our clients.

Global investment and research capabilities

To create sustainable outperformance, in-depth market knowledge is essential. We have a global research platform that both informs our investment decisions and helps our clients understand the markets. Built around global centres of investment expertise, we can leverage the best talent in a given location while fostering independent thinking across asset classes. We have 518 investment professionals - including portfolio managers averaging more than a decade of experience with our firm - but we don't try to be all things to all people. We focus on distinct areas where we believe we can excel, helping us align our strengths with our clients' goals.

Consultative local delivery

The key to providing excellent service is in understanding each client's unique circumstances and acting in their best interests. With our consultative approach and 394 relationship managers, our goal is to offer solutions that truly address our clients' needs. Our investment teams are located near the markets in which they invest, because we believe that local knowledge is key to creating a sustainable advantage. With 23 locations in 18 countries, we are well-positioned to deliver key local insights to our clients wherever they are.

A culture of risk management

Risk is both a challenge and an opportunity, which is why risk management is embedded in the way we manage and monitor investments. In fact, our parent company has been doing this successfully for more than 120 years; it is deeply ingrained in what we do. We have more than 60 dedicated specialists who average over 10 years of experience in risk management, and we build on our expertise in partnership with leading universities, supranational organizations and industry associations. This allows us to create portfolios that are risk-optimized, and to offer solutions and perspectives across the risk-return spectrum that aim to bring our clients closer to their goals while managing volatility.

At AllianzGI we recognise the importance of social, environmental and governance factors and their potential link to value creation; yet, often the value of a well through-out and executed environmental, social and governance (ESG) strategy goes unappreciated by the markets.

We believe that defining and judging potential investments in just financial terms is no longer the only approach by which to measure and understand investment risks and opportunities. We believe that by taking action, and raising our understanding beyond financial metrics by viewing investments through an additional ESG lens, our clients will be rewarded with enhanced investment decisions whilst contributing towards creating a more stable, sustainable market and society.

Our ESG Policy outlines our approach to integrating ESG issues across the entire investment value chain. Further to this we have Global Corporate Governance Guidelines that lay out the corporate governance guidelines and proxy voting policy for AllianzGI with respect to the execution of voting rights.

The Register includes those conflicts which have been identified in our investment process as well as the steps that have been taken to eliminate, mitigate or manage these risks. Compliance also maintains a number of policies which are designed to manage these risks, including the Personal Account (PA) Dealing Policy, Gifts & Entertainment Policy and a specific Conflicts of Interest policy. The register is regularly updated whenever a potential new conflict is identified and the compliance team also conduct regular testing and investigations around conflicts as part of their risk-based Compliance Monitoring Program. The team consists of 13 employees based in London, Paris, Frankfurt, San Francisco and Hong Kong. The team's services are utilized across our global investment platform, not just for our SRI portfolios.

The Global ESG team sits outside any one particular investment team and is responsible for driving Allianz Global Investors to be a leader in integrating ESG across the investment value chain by 1) participating in multi-stakeholder initiatives to improve market governance (upstream); 2) integrating ESG factors in its investment decisions; and 3) encouraging improved governance and ESG performance of investee companies (downstream).

Additionally, the joint heads of Global ESG team; Bozena Jankowska and David Diamond, are also members of the Global Research Council. The Global Research Council is composed of the regional heads of research across the Allianz Global Investors' entire research platform and is responsible for providing governance to the research platform. ESG representation on the Global Research Council ensures that ESG issues are incorporated into decision making at the highest level from a research perspective.

In that capacity David Diamond, Global Co-Head of ESG was elected as full board member representing the international investor constituency, around 90 supporting investors world-wide, including AllianzGI. He had already served as the Board alternate representing investors for the last four years.

David Diamond presented at the Sydney Conference, organised EITI investor conference calls throughout the year and also took part in a board delegation visit to the Democratic Republic of Congo, which met with senior government representatives and EITI stakeholders (civil society and mining companies) to promote and assess EITI implementation in that country.

He has presented EITI to the investor community and has written several articles in mainstream and specialist media, presenting the investor perspective on EITI. Over the past year the number of investors supporting EITI has continued to rise reaching close to 90.

Allianz Global Investors believes that implementing ESG research into investment models is not enough, as it can miss vital stages of the investment value chain where ESG can have further impact, either upstream before investment decisions are made, or downstream once issuers have been selected for portfolios. To that end AllianzGI also promotes ESG issues through public policy and collective investor initiatives, and through active proxy voting and individual company and issuer engagements. This combined effort and attention to ESG issues along the whole value chain is more effective and long-lasting.

Further to this, our ESG research is truly proprietary. A dedicated team of 9 analysts and 3 proxy voting specialists help provide in-depth equity and fixed income ESG analysis, thematic and sector ESG research and ESG ratings. The Global ESG team do not simply take ESG ratings off the shelf from external third party providers. Instead, they have created their own proprietary model that identifies and weights material ESG factors in each sector. The model maps raw ESG company/country data (obtained from specialised external data providers) onto matrices to form our sector-specific 'best-in-class' ratings. These give our investment platform our own proprietary view of companies' ESG profiles.

Overview

Voluntary

Descriptive

PRI 1

As part of its fiduciary duty, Allianz Global Investors seeks to be a leader in integrating ESG across the investment value chain by:

- 1) participating in multi-stakeholder initiatives to improve market governance (upstream);
- 2) integrating ESG factors in its investment decisions; and
- 3) encouraging improved governance and ESG performance of investee companies (downstream).

A dedicated 13-strong Global ESG team is responsible for ESG research, governance, notably engagement and proxy voting, and ESG advisory services. The team's services are utilized across our global investment platform, not just for our SRI portfolios.

This holistic approach to integrating ESG across the investment value chain by being responsible active owners helps incorporate ESG issues in listed equity.

Below is an introduction to our ESG research capabilities:

The Global ESG team covers three main areas of research: in-depth qualitative equity and fixed income analysis, in-depth thematic and sector research proprietary and ESG ratings on a global universe of companies and issuers.

- In-depth equity and fixed income ESG analysis

The Global ESG team focuses on identifying unique ESG insights that may otherwise have been overlooked by the market or our external ESG research and data providers. This research reinforces our proprietary ESG ratings, engagement and proxy voting activities with issuers. Similar in nature to fundamental analysis, the ESG analysts rely on a multitude of different sources to complete their issuer-specific ESG research. ESG analysts will utilize research from both in-house sources and the sell-side in order to build a clear understanding of a company's operations and the investment base case. Company websites can be useful to check if the company has a clear Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) policy, and whether they report on material ESG issues, either in the CSR report or the Annual Report. ESG analysts take part in company meetings and attend SRI investor days organized by companies, as well as SRI company conferences, to help with their research.

The Global ESG team works closely with Allianz Global Investors' in-house fundamental analysts and portfolio managers and also utilizes the strength of our Grassroots research where relevant.

To further their analysis, ESG analysts are able to access the company profiles and reports created by the ESG data service providers. ESG analysts also have access to Allianz Global Investors' Proxy Voting agent, ISS, and are able to check for governance-related issues. To assist in the monitoring of company, sector and project-specific negative news flow/events (including their frequency and nature), the Global ESG team employs the services of a Swiss-based company, RepRisk. To be able to have a clear understanding of the company and whether it is 'best in class', the ESG analysts will not only research the company in question, but consider it in the context of its peer group. Having conducted this thorough research, the ESG analyst is then able to clearly quantify what material ESG risks and opportunities are affecting the company.

- Thematic and sector ESG research

With the ESG Team being organised along sector responsibilities, each ESG analyst has an in-depth knowledge on the material ESG trends and issues impacting that sector and the stocks within it. The team produces thematic and sector-specific analysis that seek to provide Allianz Global Investors' global investment platform with timely insights into the ESG topics that are affecting investments now, or will do so in the future. This analysis is forward-looking, helping Allianz Global Investors keep abreast of leading ESG trends and developments that may shape our investment horizon in the future. Further to this, the Global ESG team produces a regular magazine, ESG Matters, which leverages off existing thematic and stock specific research to highlight the ESG issues relevant to the investment platform.

- ESG ratings

The Global ESG team is responsible for producing proprietary in-house ESG ratings on the global universe of companies, as well as ESG ratings for sovereigns, covered bonds, agencies and supranationals. These ESG ratings are built upon the team's own proprietary model that identifies and weights material ESG factors in each sector. The model maps raw ESG company/country data (obtained from specialised external data providers) onto matrices to form our sector-specific 'best-in-class' ratings. These ratings are available to the investment platform via our communication tool, Chatter. This allows portfolio managers to consider ESG views within their investment process.

Further to this, AllianzGI's SRI strategies are mandated to hold a majority of holdings in ESG 'best-in-class' stocks and are restricted in holding the worst rated stocks - this ensures that AllianzGI's ESG ratings and research are incorporated into the investment processes of these SRI strategies.

Describe your primary reasons for choosing a particular ESG incorporation strategy.

All of AllianzGI's mutual funds registered in Europe along with Allianz's first party assets use screens in accordance with the Ottawa Convention (Anti-personnel mines) and Oslo Convention (Cluster Munitions). Also, we are able to implement further negative screens as per client requests within segregated accounts to match their specific demands.

We have created thematic funds to meet the demands of clients and in the desire to provide competitive financial returns for our clients.

Our SRI strategies integrate ESG into the investment process through utilising our proprietary ESG ratings, where they are mandated to hold a majority of best-in-class stocks and are restricted from holding the worst ESG rated stocks. The proprietary ratings and additional company specific ESG research provided by the Global ESG team helps the portfolio managers have a more holistic view of their investments by considering the additional ESG risks and opportunities and thereby giving them improved risk/return profile.

Allianz Global Investors was a founder member of, and played a significant role in establishing, the Enhanced Analytics Initiative (EAI), which ran for four years between November 2004 and December 2008. The aim of the EAI was to stimulate sell-side analysts to produce research which incorporates environmental, social and governance issues in such a way as to enable fund managers to integrate them into their investment decisions. This very successful project helped stimulate an exponential growth in this research. As part of our commitment to the EAI, we agreed to allocate 5% of our broker commissions to differentiated ESG research. We continue to do this today.

The EAI has now formed a global partnership with the UN Principles for Responsible Investment (UN PRI) to provide access to, and a market for, such research on a wider scale.

Retailing: Thematic report on social supply chain risks with a focus on Bangladesh We assessed the social supply chain risks and preparation details of 18 retailers and apparel brands globally, following the collapse of a garment manufacturing facility in Bangladesh. This was a terrible disaster that has had lasting impact on the country, and also the retail and apparel sector. The Bangladesh ACCORD on Fire and Building Safety should hopefully have a far-reaching impact in the area. Supply chain incidents imply reputational, operational and regulatory risks for retailers. OEMs applying strict Health and Safety and labor standards could benefit as local and international efforts to improve sourcing practices are picking up. We believe the accident could act as a catalyst for overall improvement in supply chain practices in the region. Mid to long term, this could result in new business opportunities for testing, inspection and certification companies

ESG issue 2

ESG issue and explanation
Banks: Libor scandal Following the Libor scandal in which several banks (Barclays (BARC LN) , RBS (RBS LN) , UBS (UBSN VX)) have been fined for manipulating the Libor rate, the UK Treasury announced that starting from 2014, the rate will be run by NYSE Euronext and not by the BBA (through Thomson Reuters) anymore. The Global ESG team sector analyst reviewed the sector following the scandal. The pending question was if the rate will continue to be calculated based on estimates from 16 banks only or if the panel will be extended so that manipulation risks would be reduced. This change would probably prevent banks for trying to manipulate the Libor since it is now run by an independent third party. We still continue to pay attention to the future development on this rate especially on the way it is calculated. For matters of comparison, the Euribor rate is calculated on an average of submissions by 44 banks compared to the 16 composing the Libor panel.

ESG issue 3

ESG issue and explanation
Consumer Staples: Food Food companies faced difficulties in the second half of 2013 in China. After an investigation for price-fixing on baby milk, six major global food companies (Mead Johnson, Biostime, Danone, Abbot, Friesland, Fonterra) were condemned to pay significant fines (for a total amount of more than €100m) for anti-competitive practices and forced to reduce the price of their products. In addition to the 6 fined companies, 3 (including Nestlé and Meiji Holdings Co.) were found guilty but were spared fines because they "cooperated with the investigation, provided important evidence and carried out active self-rectification" according to the Chinese agency responsible. Following these events, new scandals regarding global companies' business behavior blew up. Note this took place a few months after China's vast hunt to stamp out corruption in the pharmaceutical sector. In food also, it seems that players will need to adapt to the new Chinese business environment, which is negative on a short term but should be beneficial in a mid to long term by providing a healthier market environment.

Engagement

Overview

LEA 01	Voluntary	Descriptive	PRI 2

At Allianz Global Investors, it is our belief that ESG engagement should support our core business purpose of generating long-term return for clients. As such, our engagement maintains a focused link to investment, by seeking to reduce ESG material risks for investee companies.

The Global ESG team is responsible for implementing Allianz Global Investors' policy on engagement, both upstream (participating in multi-stakeholder initiatives to improve market governance) and downstream (encouraging improved governance and ESG performance). By leveraging the full weight of Allianz Global Investors' assets under management and reputation, the team is able to exert its influence over those with whom we are engaging.

Allianz Global Investors' engagement has three main approaches:

- Public policy
- Collective engagement
- Company engagement

Public policy

Allianz Global Investors believes that selectively engaging with public policy makers on regulatory issues, which can affect all listed companies, is crucial and potentially plays an influential role in long-term investment success. It is also important from a reputational perspective, as it lends credibility vis-à-vis stakeholders. For Allianz Global Investors this includes, notably, our clients. Allianz Global Investors also believes that contributing to investor and multi-stakeholder initiatives which seek more sustainable government policies, capital markets and corporate practices is increasingly necessary. By being active participants in this area, we hope to bring about more sustainable government policies and more sustainable, transparent markets, e.g. financial markets, oil and gas markets, etc., as well as bringing about better and more sustainable corporate practice.

In terms of public policy engagement, Allianz Global Investors recently signed on to an investor position paper entitled: "Audit - a long-term investor position paper on proposed EU reforms". The paper is a collective investor response to the EU's own proposed, EC Directive and Regulation on audit. Moreover, one of our Global Heads of ESG has taken a leading role representing the investor community on the international board of the Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI). The latter seeks to improve the governance of resource rich countries through the transparency of government receipts and payments of oil, gas and mining companies (alternate board representative from 2009-13, full board member from 2013-current).

Collective engagement

Allianz Global Investors is involved in the UN Principles for Responsible Investment Working Group on Sustainable Palm Oil and an investor working group on Canadian Oil Sands. Another example is the co-filing of shareholder resolutions. Recently, Allianz Global Investors decided to co-file a resolution at the upcoming annual meeting of an international bank calling for the formal separation of roles between CEO and Chair.

Company engagement

In relation to companies, we define engagement as more than just company dialogue for information. Through engagement we seek to actively incite companies to improve ESG performance to underpin their long-term business prospects. Our engagement involves two-way interaction with a company through presenting a viewpoint, seeking change and monitoring and documenting results.

We are currently reviewing a new global company engagement positioning that will centre on four key themes:

- Climate change
- Corporate governance
- ESG disclosure
- ESG issues in supply chains

The advantage of these themes is that they are structural, and even systemic in the case of climate change, and thus apply to most sectors. Building on thematic and sector ESG research, our Global ESG team is well-placed to identify those companies most at risk across each of the sectors they cover. We will be formally establishing and implementing this company engagement strategy during 2014.

Our approach to measuring the success and progress of our engagement will build upon the engagement practices we have been undertaking on behalf of large institutional clients over the past few years. Each engagement will be clearly measured against the following four milestones:

- Milestone 1: raising concerns with a company
- Milestone 2: acknowledgement of the issue by the company
- Milestone 3: company developing a credible strategy or realistic but appropriate targets
- Milestone 4: strategy implementation or reaching targets.

Describe how you identify and prioritise engagements.

Regarding our approach to bilateral company engagement and voting at their annual general meetings, here our objective is to actively seek improved governance and ESG performance in order to underpin long-term business prospects. Our engagement approach maintains a focused link to investment, by seeking to reduce ESG material risks for investee companies and issuers. Accordingly, the results and outcomes of these engagements are in turn fed back into ESG research for a virtuous circle of good stewardship.

Aside from the numerous company management meetings that the Global ESG and the fundamental analysts have where ESG issues could be and are raised with management, in line with our formal engagement policy, our company engagement centres on four key themes:

- Climate change
- Corporate governance
- ESG disclosure
- ESG issues in supply chains

The advantage of these themes is that they are structural, and even systemic in the case of climate change, and thus apply to most sectors. Building on thematic and sector ESG research, our Global ESG team is well-placed to identify those companies most at risk across each of the sectors they cover.

LEA 16.1	Provide a brief overview of your organisation's approach to (proxy) voting (including the filing and/or co-filing of shareholder resolutions if applicable).

Allianz Global Investors considers proxy voting to be a key part of the fiduciary responsibility that we have to our clients. Where we have voting authority for our clients' proxies, it is our policy to vote in a manner consistent with the best interests of our clients.

The Global Investment Management Group (GIMG), a subcommittee of the Allianz Global Executive Committee, has developed Global Proxy Voting Guidelines and Principles and reviews these periodically. The Global Proxy Voting Guidelines and Principles cover a variety of corporate governance issues, including board of director and board committee independence, executive compensation, and anti-takeover provisions. In addition, as signatories to the UN PRI (Principles for Responsible Investment), our proxy voting guidelines also ensure that sustainability-related issues are embedded in our approach. We support proposals that encourage increased transparency on forward-looking and strategy-related sustainability issues deemed material to the financial performance of a company.

Based on the Global Proxy Voting Guidelines and Principles, and recognizing regional variations across markets relating to regulatory and legal frameworks, best practice, actual market practice and disclosure regimes, each Allianz Global Investors' entity has developed its own formal guidelines for voting. Decisions on how to vote on specific proxy voting issues are the responsibility of Allianz Global Investors' local proxy voting committees. To prevent conflicts of interest, none of the votes submitted by Allianz Global Investors are biased by the opinion or voting wishes of other Allianz Global Investors' clients.

In evaluating issues, Allianz Global Investors' Proxy Voting Committees may consider information from many sources. These include the respective portfolio management team, the analyst responsible for monitoring the stock of the company, the management of the company presenting the proposal, and shareholder groups.

We also draw on a third party proxy voting service which assists with our proxy voting execution procedures, based on the proxy voting policy of each Allianz Global Investors entity. The third-party proxy voting service is responsible for administering our local corporate governance guidelines, making customized voting recommendations to our local proxy voting officers and preparing the execution. In addition, the third-party proxy provider can customize its voting recommendations based on the specific proxy voting policies of our clients.

Fixed Income - Government

Sovereign Bonds

An external data provider supplies the Global ESG team with quantitative data on three key areas:

- (i) Environment: greenhouse gases emissions, land use, water use, biodiversity protection, ratification of main environmental treaties and conventions
- (ii) Social: health, education, housing, social inequalities, ratification of International Labor Organization conventions
- (iii) Government oversight: rule of law, government effectiveness, regulatory quality, control of and perception of corruption

All these indicators come from internationally-recognized sources such as the World Bank and OECD. To form the sovereign bond ESG rating, further qualitative analysis is carried out on a set of 15 factors that have been identified through a collaborative process with portfolio managers. These factors are considered material enough to potentially have an impact on the ability of a government to generate future revenues (such as family policies, education, gender equality, research and development) or on its ability to face its future obligations (pensions systems, healthcare systems). Alongside these factors, others have been selected based on their ability to improve the country's social cohesion (respect for human rights and civil liberties, housing, environmental policies, integration of minorities, fight against corruption, justice).

AllianzGI's involvement with the EITI (please see the Overarching Approach for more information on our involvement with the EITI) involves direct engagement with government departments and the initiative clearly influences their approach to governance issues within the extractive industries that affect their overall creditworthiness. For example, Fitch Ratings pointed to the State Oil Fund of Azerbaijan Republic's work with the EITI when it upgraded the country's rating in 2010.
